

Australian Government
Department of Social Services

Australian Government
Department of Human Services

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

lifecoursecentre

preventing deep disadvantage: realising life's potential
ARC Centre of Excellence for Children and Families over the Life Course

Workshop on Intergenerational Disadvantage

The Department of Social Services, Department of Human Services, NSW Department of Family and Community Services, The University of Sydney, School of Economics and the Life Course Centre invite you to attend a one-day Workshop on Intergenerational Disadvantage. The day will include presentations focused on investigating intergenerational disadvantage using administrative data and a Policy Round Table Session.

Speakers include

- Professor Deborah Cobb-Clark, The University of Sydney
- Dr Tim Reddel, Department of Social Services
- Kirsten Hancock, Telethon Kids Institute in WA
- Associate Professor Anne Gielen, Erasmus University of Rotterdam
- Marilyn Chilvers, NSW Department of Family and Community Services
- Merran Butler, NSW Department of Family and Community Services
- Associate Professor Melissa Green, UNSW, Sydney (NSW Child Development Study)
- Dr Judith Planitz, Department of Human Services
- Mark Morrison, Department of Human Services
- Nathan Deutscher, Australian National University

Wednesday 23 May 2018

10.00am – 4.30pm

The University of Sydney

Charles Perkins Centre
CPC Seminar Rooms 1.02 and 1.04
Building D17, John Hopkins Drive (off Missenden Road)
Camperdown NSW 2006

Register

To janelle.kennington@sydney.edu.au by Friday 11 May 2018

NB. Places are limited. Lunch and afternoon tea will be provided. Please advise any dietary requirements with your registration.