Submission Streams

The Conference Program Committee seeks presentations from a wide variety of interdisciplinary and theoretical perspectives. This collaborative space welcomes submissions from Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and non-Indigenous peoples. Submissions will be organised into the streams and sub-streams listed below. Please use these streams as a guide for your submissions. If your presentation doesn't fit within these streams, please contact us as you may have an initiative we have yet to identify.

Cultural Strength and Sovereignty

- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander languages and cultural practices in social work and education.
- Embedding cultural responsiveness in professional practice.
- Community-Led healing and wellbeing frameworks.

Decolonial Initiatives in Practice

- Challenging colonial legacies in curricula and pedagogy.
- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander-Led research methodologies and knowledge production.
- Reframing social work, education and the teaching disciplines through Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander worldviews.

Self-Determination and Leadership

- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander governance.
- Celebrating and learning from community-controlled collaborations.
- Leadership pathways.

Children, Youth, and Intergenerational Futures

- Cultural connectivity in early childhood and youth programs.
- Intergenerational learning and storytelling.
- Supporting strong identity and belonging in young people.

Systems Change and Policy Advocacy

- Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander-Led policy reform in child protection, justice, and education.
- Challenging systemic racism with institutional accountability.
- ICIP intellectual and practice sovereignty.

Place, Land, and Learning

- Country as teacher: land-based pedagogies and practice.
- Caring for Country and its connection to wellbeing.
- Place-based approaches to social work and education.

Healing, Reclamation and Wellbeing

- Trauma-informed, culturally grounded healing practices.
- Social and emotional wellbeing through Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander lenses.
- Community healing and collective care.

Celebrating our Elders: Past, Present, and Future

- Collaborating and caring with and alongside our Elders.
- Innovations in Elder community programs.
- Elders as change agents, advocates, and activists.

We look forward to coming together to share, innovate and collaborate in a dynamic and inclusive space that supports Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander voices in shaping the future of social work and education in Australia.
