

Do you want to engage with the next generation of top Computer Scientists?

About us

The School of Computer Science at the University of Sydney is amongst the nation's top schools in the field.

Our flagship, four-year Bachelor of Advanced Computing degree has a combined enrolment of over 1,000 students delivering graduates who are:

- highly sought-after employees
- well-rounded industry-ready professionals
- generalists with a solid foundational knowledge needed for careers in computer-based industries

Why engage with us?

No matter the size of your organisation, we are ready to start a meaningful partnership to help you:

- connect with the best talent in Computer Science
- raise your profile as a desirable employer
- support the next generation of top Computer Science professionals

Start your partnership with us today by contacting cs.engagement@sydney.edu.au

How can you engage?

Offer a Capstone Project

Have a team of highly motivated final year students work on a twelve-week-long software project by providing:

- a project scope describing a real-world problem and expected deliverables
- weekly advice to your student group (online)

Teams undertake this work as part of their degree and are evaluated by an academic supervisor.

Donate a Student Award or Scholarship

Associate your brand with our prestigious annual Award ceremony by supporting:

- awards to celebrate high-achieving students
- scholarships to support under-represented groups

Host an Intern

Talk to us about our Industry Placement Scholarship program to offer internship opportunities:

- work individually with our highest achieving final year students
- benefit from the fresh ideas and enthusiasm of the next generation of top Computer Scientists
