Students must enrol in Dissertation A prior to, or concurrent with, Dissertation B and be enrolled in Dissertation B in order to submit their dissertation. Your dissertation is due for submission on the census date following the semester in which you enrol in Dissertation B. If a student is not able to submit his/her dissertation after enrolling in 18 credit points of dissertation units of study, he/she must re-enrol in a minimum of 9 credit points of dissertation units of study, with the concomitant financial liability, the following semester, or suspend your candidature until he/she is ready to submit the work by the next appropriate due date. This is done via the Sydney Student portal/My studies/Course details and click on the link to suspend.
