ADMISSION GUIDE, 2020

CAMPERDOWN AND WESTMEAD CAMPUSES

DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL APPLICANTS

INTRODUCTION

The Master of Nursing (Graduate entry) at Sydney Nursing School is for students with a previous bachelor level qualification who want to become a registered nurse in Australia. The program is two years full-time or four years part-time. Places in this program are capped and the admission process is highly competitive.

Commencing in 2020, the Master of Nursing will be delivered in two distinct, comparable cohorts: one based at the University's Mallet Street campus, Camperdown, and one based at the Westmead health precinct. Students based at Westmead will attend the majority of their lectures within the Westmead precinct, which includes teaching hospitals and university facilities, and will undertake most clinical placements with partner institutions at Westmead or elsewhere in western Sydney. Students based at Camperdown will attend lectures at the Mallet Street campus and will have the opportunity to undertake clinical placements at many partner institutions, including those at Westmead.

NOTE: Applicants who are registered as a nurse with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia are not eligible to apply for this course.

Sydney Nursing School's admission guide for entry into the Master of Nursing (Graduate entry) program in 2020 has been developed to help you understand the admission process. We aim to answer some of the most commonly asked questions, explain the admission criteria, help you develop a strong application and prepare you for the selection process.

Before you proceed with your application, please check that you meet the admission requirements for the Master of Nursing (Graduate entry) at Sydney Courses: sydney.edu.au/courses/master-of-nursing

This admission guide is only applicable for entry into the Master of Nursing (Graduate entry).

Applications for the combined degree/Master of Nursing programs are through the Universities Admissions Centre (UAC): uac.edu.au. International applicants completing an overseas secondary qualification may apply direct to the University.

As the Academic Lead (Education) at Sydney Nursing School, I am proud to be part of Australia's most highly regarded nursing school and am delighted that you have chosen to apply for entry.

Dr. Jennifer Green
Academic Lead (Education)

HOW TO APPLY: DOMESTIC APPLICANTS

THE APPLICATION PROCESS

If you are an Australian citizen, Australian permanent resident, a New Zealand citizen or a holder of a permanent humanitarian visa you are considered to be a domestic applicant.

Dates for domestic applicants to submit an application for admission to the Master of Nursing (Graduate entry) are listed below:

- Round 1 – Friday 24 May, 5pm AEST
- Round 2 – Friday 16 August, 5pm AEST
- Round 3 – Sunday 13 October, Midnight AEDT
- Round 4 – Monday 6 January 2020, 5pm AEDT

You are encouraged to submit a completed application as early as possible. This is due to the high level of competition for places in the program. To be considered for numeracy and literacy testing and an interview, your application must be complete and include all the required documents. Incomplete applications will not be considered.

NOTE: Applicants invited to the main round interview and online numeracy and literacy testing are required to complete the online registration page which provides applicants with a dropdown menu. Applicants are to select either the Westmead Health Precinct or Mallett Street (Camperdown) campus. Duplicate applications will not be accepted. The campus selected is a preference but not guaranteed. Students will be allocated to a campus after successfully passing the interview and numeracy and literacy testing process.

It is expected that applicants wear smart casual attire to the group interview.

NOTE: Places are limited at both campuses. If your application is successful and Westmead is your first choice but oversubscribed, you will automatically be considered for admission into the Master of Nursing (Graduate entry) at the Mallett Street campus.

Offers will be made in the rounds as set out in the table on page 3.

Domestic applicant document checklist

(Certified copies not required)

- Bachelor Degree Testamur* (equivalent to Australian qualification or equivalent to level 7 Australian Qualifications Framework AQF)
- Academic Transcripts
- Identification (passport, driver licence, birth certificate, etc)

* Qualifications older than 10 years will be considered subject to you providing further information substantiating appropriate further education and development. In these cases, admission will be at the discretion of the Dean. If you do not meet this criterion, you will need to undertake a tertiary unit of study prior to admission. It is recommended that applicants complete Human Health HEA110, or the online Human Biology unit at Monash University an enabling university unit of study from Open University. This subject has been approved by the Academic Lead (Education). If you want to complete a different subject, you must provide a detailed unit of study outline of the subject you wish to undertake. This MUST be approved first by the Academic Lead (Education) Please contact the Faculty at nursing.mnregistration@sydney.edu.au

Domestic applicants applying for admission to the Master of Nursing (Graduate entry) must complete the following steps:

1. Submit an application to the University of Sydney using the online application portal. Go to sydney.edu.au/courses/master-of-nursing and click on the 'Apply Now' button.

Remember to upload all required documents with your application. When you have submitted your application, you will receive a confirmation email from the University.

2. Applicants who meet the admission criteria will receive a conditional offer and an invitation to the online literacy and numeracy testing. On successful completion of the literacy and numeracy testing, applicants will receive an invitation to attend a group interview at Sydney Nursing School. The online testing will consist of two short tests in literacy and numeracy. You will be required to attend the group interview in-person at Sydney Nursing School, Mallett Street Campus on the date listed in the table below. For directions to the Mallett Street campus visit: sydney.edu.au/about/campuses/mallett_street

The online testing and group interview session is by invitation only.

3. The admission process for the Master of Nursing program is highly competitive. Applicants who successfully meet all admission criteria (including successful completion of the literacy and numeracy tests and interview) will be ranked and may be made a formal offer of a place in the program. Commonwealth supported places in this program are capped and if the cap is reached, applicants may be offered a full fee-paying place instead.

ADMISSION CRITERIA FOR DOMESTIC & INTERNATIONAL APPLICANTS

All applicants must be able to meet the following criteria in order to receive a firm offer of a place in the program.

NOTE: Applicants who are registered as a nurse with the Nursing and Midwifery Board of Australia are not eligible to apply for this course.

Admission criteria

THE INTERVIEW & TESTING PROCESS

LITERACY AND NUMERACY TESTS

It is essential that Master of Nursing (Graduate entry) applicants are able to demonstrate satisfactory numeracy and literacy skills. As part of the admission process, you will be asked to complete two short tests in literacy and numeracy. International and domestic applicants will be provided with instructions for completing the literacy and numeracy tests online.

The numeracy test will assess fundamental mathematical ability and will consist of 15 questions addressing addition, subtraction, multiplication, division, fractions, percentages and units of measurement. Calculators will be permitted; however, no mobile devices are to be used. Applicants are given 15 minutes to complete the numeracy test.

The aim of the literacy test is to provide applicants with the opportunity to demonstrate their comprehension of written English, and writing skills including spelling, punctuation and grammar. Your ability to critically analyse and think independently will also be assessed. To facilitate this, you will be provided with a short reading and asked to write a brief critical appraisal. Applicants are given 20 minutes to complete the literacy test.

Once you have completed the literacy test, your response will be submitted to Turnitin, a text-matching software, in accordance with University Policy. This will enable you to demonstrate academic integrity in your work. It is therefore important that you write using only your own thoughts and words and do not use any additional sources or material. If it is discovered that you have used previously published sources to complete your written response, your application will no longer be considered.

Taking into consideration all test elements, a global rating of “satisfactory” or “unsatisfactory” will be awarded. For consideration for entry into the program, applicants are required to achieve a “satisfactory” rating.

Successful completion of the online literacy and numeracy testing, applicants will be invited to group interviews.

INTERVIEWS

Individual (Skype or Zoom) or group interviews are used as a valuable assessment tool to enable Sydney Nursing School to offer places to applicants who not only present well on paper but who can also demonstrate they have the required communication skills, motivation, attitude and insight necessary to succeed in nursing.

The admission interview is designed to assess your suitability for the Master of Nursing (Graduate entry) based on qualities and attributes important for success in nursing, including:

- interpersonal and communication skills
- intelligence and cognitive ability
- team work
- decision-making ability
- respect for diversity
- a sense of caring, empathy and sensitivity; and
- motivation and commitment within the context of nursing.

Your admission interview will be conducted individually or on a group basis with up to nine applicants and will be facilitated by two academic staff members. It is envisaged that the interview process will take approximately 45 minutes. In individual interviews, you will be asked a series of questions.

In group interviews, the group will be set a task which you will work together to complete within a 30-minute timeframe. Examples of issues that the group may need to consider include allocation of roles, available talents or skills of individual group members that could be useful, and resource issues.

Clear written and verbal instructions will be provided and there will be an opportunity to ask questions before the task begins. At its completion, group members will be required to report back to the facilitators. This will be followed by a 15-minute group discussion, facilitated by the academic staff, in which applicants will have the opportunity to reflect on their experiences of the group task.

The way in which candidates present themselves will also be taken into consideration and it is expected that smart-casual attire is worn.

The group interview is expected to take up to one and half hours, the entire process including introductions, orientation and possible delays; therefore, it is recommended that you allocate this amount of time on
