

Sydney Global Health Research Symposium

Pathways from collaboration to impact

Co-hosted by the Sydney Southeast Asia Centre, Sydney Infectious Diseases Institute and
Faculty of Medicine and Health

Program

Time	Session
12:00pm–1:00pm	Registration and networking lunch
1:00pm–1:20pm	Session 1: Welcome and Keynote CHAIR (MC): Associate Professor Sarah Bernays, University of Sydney School of Public Health SPEAKERS – Professor John Prins, Dean, Faculty of Medicine and Health, University of Sydney – Professor Greg Fox, Director, Sydney Southeast Asia Centre, University of Sydney – Professor Rebecca Ivers, Deputy Dean, Global Engagement and External Education, UNSW Sydney
1:20pm–1:40pm	Keynote address – Pathways from collaboration to impact in global health Professor Anushka Patel, Chief Executive Officer, The George Institute for Global Health
1:40pm–2:10pm	Session 2: Pathways to impactful research collaboration CHAIR: Dr Jocelyne Basseal, Director, Global Research Engagement, Office of Global Research and Engagement, University of Sydney SPEAKERS – Leading without leading: Fostering a collective approach to public health Dr Emily MacLean, Research Fellow, School of Public Health and Centre of Research Excellence in Tuberculosis Control, University of Sydney – Being an effective collaborator Professor Rohina Joshi, Global Health Lead, School of Population Health, UNSW Sydney – Navigating challenges in collaboration Dr Justin Koonin, Adjunct Professor, The Kirby Institute, UNSW Sydney, and Distinguished Fellow & Honorary Professorial Fellow, The George Institute for Global Health – From myths to missed conceptions: Collaboration for reproductive health in Fiji Professor Angela Dawson, Associate Dean (Research), Faculty of Health, UTS
2:10pm–2:40pm	Session 3: Pathways to health research impact CHAIR: Professor Bruce Neal, Senior Professorial Fellow, The George Institute for Public Health SPEAKERS – Impact through research implementation and scale-up Professor Karen Canfell, School of Public Health and Lead of the Elimination Partnership in the Indo-Pacific for Cervical Cancer (EPICC) Program and the Cancer Elimination Collaboration (CEC), University of Sydney – Impact through policy change Professor Rebecca Guy, NHMRC Fellow and Head of the Surveillance Evaluation and Research Program, The Kirby Institute, UNSW Sydney – Impact through building institutional capacities Professor Joel Negin, School of Public Health and Academic Lead for the Academic Excellence Program, Office of the Provost, University of Sydney – Impact through community engagement and advocacy Ms Maureen Luba, Senior Advisor for Global Policy, AVAC – AIDS Vaccine Advocacy Coalition – Impact through technology collaboration Dr Anindya Susanto, Australian Institute of Health Innovation, Centre for Health Informatics, Macquarie University

Sydney Global Health Research Symposium

Pathways from collaboration to impact

Program (continued)

Time	Session
2:40pm–3:10pm	Session 4: Partnering with communities and healthcare consumers for impact CHAIR: Dr Graeme Hoddinott, Senior Lecturer in Global Health, School of Public Health, University of Sydney SPEAKERS – Pathways to impact through co-development: SHIFT-TB and TBONG-KHMER projects Dr Alvin Teo, Research Fellow in Tuberculosis Research, School of Public Health, University of Sydney – Pathways to impact co-design with national and international policymakers Professor Meru Sheel, Lead of the Infectious Diseases, Immunisation and Emergencies (IDIE) Research Group, School of Public Health, University of Sydney – Consumer engagement in clinical research Dr Adam Bartlett, Paediatric Infectious Diseases Specialist at Sydney Children's Hospital and Senior Research Fellow, Global Health Program, The Kirby Institute, UNSW Sydney – Consumer perspectives on engagement in research Mr Duy Trinh-Hoang, PhD candidate, University of Sydney
3.10pm–3.40pm	Afternoon tea and networking
3:40pm–3:55pm	Guest speaker CHAIR: Professor Shailendra Sawleshwarwar, Associate Dean, International, UNSW Sydney – Cultivating global collaboration in building capacity, education and research Professor Sanjay Zodpey, President, Public Health Foundation of India
3:55pm–4:45pm Breakout sessions	Session 5: How can we make a difference? Cultivating collaboration in global health research, education and capacity-building CHAIR: Professor Ben Marais, Director, Sydney Infectious Diseases Institute, University of Sydney
4:45pm–5:00pm	– Group rapporteur feedback: Next steps in building collaboration
5:00pm–5:05pm	Reflections and close Professor Ben Marais

The Sydney Southeast Asia Centre, Sydney Infectious Diseases Institute and Faculty of Medicine and Health thank the speakers and facilitators for sharing their expertise and insights. Your contributions helped create a valuable platform for cross-institutional collaboration and collective action to advance global health.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

Sydney Southeast
Asia Centre

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

Sydney Infectious
Diseases Institute

MACQUARIE
University
SYDNEY · AUSTRALIA

UNSW
SYDNEY

UNSW
SYDNEY

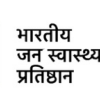

UNSW
Kirby Institute

40
YEARS OF IMPACT

The George Institute for Global Health

PUBLIC HEALTH FOUNDATION of INDIA