

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

Narrabri School Field Day

I.A. Watson Grains Research Centre

The I.A. Watson Grains Research Centre would like to invite primary and high school classes to visit our campus for a day to learn about a variety of agricultural science careers!

What will students see?

The day will feature our friendly research and technical farm staff showcasing their work at Narrabri Campus and fields. Students will participate in hands-on native plant workshops, tour key crop fields (wheat, barley, chickpeas, faba beans), learn about drones and farming machinery, and more!

For Year K–12 students. Registrations through schools and teachers.

Cost

Free! and BBQ lunch provided. Students should bring their own snacks and drink bottles.

When

Tuesday 15 September 2026
9.30 am – 1.30 pm

Where

I.A. Watson Grains Research Centre
University of Sydney
12656 Newell Highway Narrabri NSW 2390

Safety on Campus

Teachers must supervise their class throughout the program.

Register through the form below:

https://sydney.au1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_3CSocseu7T5P9Z

A

For more information contact:

arisa.hosokawa@sydney.edu.au or 0466 248 886.

