We're on the home stretch!

Good luck to all students completing their end of year exams this week – we're almost there! We wish you all the best for the rest of 2022, and we can't wait to welcome you back to campus in 2023.

Semester 2 results and re-enrolment in 2023

Your results will be emailed to your University student email account on Wednesday 14 December. After 24 hours, your results will then be available in Sydney Student. Find out more about result release.

If you're continuing your studies next year, you'll need to re-enrol. In Semester 1 2023, classes will be delivered on campus for onshore students. You'll only be able to select remote units (units with the location code 'RE') if you are studying offshore. Find out more on our study information page. You will need to have received all your results and been invited to re-enrol before you can select a unit in a January or February intensive session.

If you've finished your studies, find out about graduating in 2023.

Urban farming on campus

Did you know that we have a community garden on campus? Hear from Matilda Risso, one of the students behind the University garden, about the importance of learning how to grow your own food in the city.

Dubbo Rural Clinical School

New state-of-the-art medical education facilities have recently opened at the University's School of Rural Health in Dubbo, to help grow the future health workforce.

Learn more about what our Dubbo campus has to offer.

United Nations International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women

This Friday 25 November is the United Nations International Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women, which marks the beginning of 16 Days of Activism where we are all encouraged to take action to end gender-based violence.

We remind students that support is available for those affected by sexual misconduct, domestic and family violence.

Notices

- From January 2023, a Pay As You Go (PAYG) parking system via the CelloPark app will replace previously used parking permits on our Camperdown/Darlington campus. Learn more about changes to parking in 2023.
- The new-look University Handbook for 2023 has now been published. The new handbook has been designed to deliver improved quality of information and a better experience for students.
